Since opening in 1967, the Centennial Theatre has undergone several refurbishments in collaboration with Scéno Plus. The most recent renovation, completed in March 2006, not only gave the hall a total facelift but also boosted comfort levels for spectators and provided new theatrical equipment.

The renovations were completed within a tight (three-month) time period.

Renovations included fresh paint for the hall and foyer, new carpeting, a new stage floor, new furnishings throughout the hall and foyer, the replacement of all lifting, lighting, and sound systems, improvements to the dressing rooms, and major electrical work.
